개요/진행	South Korea has successfully the three original goals of Korean politics, which are national security, industrialization and democratization. However, the battle still wages on between the conservatives, who prioritize national security and industrialization, and liberals, who wish for further democratization. This is because though we are living in a Post-Cold War era, another cold war over the North Korean nuclear issue still dominates the peninsula's political and diplomatic history. Therefore, this course will survey Korea's political and diplomatic history during The Cold-War and The Post-Cold War eras with a focus on North Korea-South Korea relations, so that students may understand th
