강좌의 개요	The course will take a look at some of the main events that have taken place in Europe and the Western world since the Renaissance. However, to create more of a natural link with the previous semester's history course we start with a look at the Silk Road and Mongolian Empire. The course starts with a look at the Silk Road and how that helped trade to flourish between East and West. This will also help provide some background to what happened in earlier history. From there the course starts to look at some of the biggest and most influential empires of the era, for example the Mongolian and Ottoman empires. Empires of Europe were very influential in shaping the world in which we live in today. We then look at the Reformation and how increased education lead to the start of European colonisation. In this part of the course we look at which countries in particular were starting to dominate world colonization and how and why they were able to do so. The first half of the semester finishes with a look at the Thirty Years War and the subsequent Treaty of Westphalia, which is very important in modern day politics. The second half of the course focuses on the industrial revolution, the French and American revolutions, the two world wars and the Cold War. This modern history is vital in understanding how modern society has developed. Many students in Korea do not have this basic history and so it is important that they learn even the basics.
강좌의 목표	The objective of the course is to study some of the biggest events in Western history and understand how those events have helped to shape the world we live in. By the end of the course the students will be able to discuss the topics in detail and will have a good understanding of how the Europeans dominated global relations from the Renaissance to the present. Korean students do not have a good knowledge base of world history. Through this course I aim to educate the students as much as possible about the major events in world history and why they were so important. In particular, for those students who want to study abroad will need this basic knowledge.
